Unidos Contra la Diabetes Names Moises Arjona Jr. as New Director

The Rio Grande Valley Collective Impact Initiative, Unidos Contra la Diabetes, announces its new Director, Moises Arjona Jr.

Arjona became interim director in July 2021 and will now transition into the Director role full time in December 2021. He comes to UCD with a background of nonprofit management and development. A valley native, he has worked extensively for more than 15 years in community health programs that promote wellness to improve quality of life. Arjona's demonstrated leadership have led to his appointment at UCD.

"I AM THRILLED TO WORK WITH OUR PARTNERS WHO ARE ALL WORKING TOGETHER TO REDUCE DIABETES IN THE RIO GRANDE VALLEY".

UCD is a cross-sector, Valley-wide partnership whose goal is to reduce new instances of diabetes in the Rio Grande Valley by helping those with prediabetes obtain resources and support to prevent this illness. Through community partnerships, workgroup development, and a shared data system, UCD builds on established and new programs to create sustainable changes in the Valley.

UCD's workgroups and task forces include prediabetes education, prediabetes screening coordination, policy task force and data taskforce. For more information on how you can get involved with UCD, email marjona@ucdrgv.org or info@ucdrgv.org.
